

Community Solutions Advisory Service

Overview

The Community Solutions Advisory Service provides personalized data and technology related supports by sharing knowledge, expertise, experience and guidance to municipal staff and Indigenous communities.

At no cost to communities, the Advisory Service offers a range of activities focused on building municipal staff capacity on numerous open smart city topics, including data governance, procurement, privacy, smart city policy development, public engagement, and more. You will be connected with advisors specialized in smart cities approaches and receive access to online courses and specialized workshops tailored to your communities' needs.

To better understand your local priorities, the Advisory Service team will work directly with you to conduct a preliminary needs assessment; once we understand the topic areas most important to you, we'll connect you with one of our advisors with expertise most relevant to your community.

Building an open smart community takes more than one person and that's why we take a coordinated team approach. Our multi-sectoral partners work alongside our staff to offer courses, workshops, webinars and many other tailored services.

What is your next step? Let us do the work – share with us your needs, and we'll do the heavy lifting. The process begins as soon as you contact the Community Solutions Network.

Please contact: ✉ communitysolutions@evergreen.ca

1 Advisory Services conducts and shares results of needs assessment

2 Connect community with specialist advisor

3 Provide community with additional services: courses, workshops, webinars

4 End of service evaluation to see how we can continue to serve your community

Project lead:

Lead technical partner:

With funding provided by: